

Federico Galluccio

 +39 011 5112312

 federico.galluccio@pavesioassociati.it

 Torino, Corso Vittorio Emanuele II, 68

Federico Galluccio joined Pavesio Studio Legale in June 2021.

He has developed specific expertise in the field of Corporate Compliance, particularly regarding corporate criminal liability under Legislative Decree 231/2001, Labour and Environmental Law, and Data Protection, including in relation to the online sector.

He assists Italian and multinational companies with the various obligations required by current legislation and in the creation and implementation of specific compliance programs.

He periodically teaches on the liability of entities under Legislative Decree 231/2001 at the Department of Management of the University of Turin.

In 2025, he obtained a Master's degree in Privacy and Data Protection Officer from 24ore Business School. Additionally, in 2024, he attended an Advanced Training Course in Data Protection and DPO at Labor Project.

Federico graduated with a score of 110/110 from the University of Turin in 2018, writing a dissertation on the liberalisation and regulation of the energy sector at both national and European levels.

He completed his professional training at the Ferreri and Associates law firm in Turin (LEXto) and his practical internship at the Court of Appeal in Turin, focusing on civil, criminal, and corporate law, which concluded with top marks. During this period, he also participated as a speaker at a conference organised by the Superior School of the Judiciary on the Consumer Code and distance contracts.

In 2020, he obtained the International Legal English certification from SIOI.

He qualified in November 2020 with commendation from the Commission, achieving a score of 50/50 in European Union Law.

He is an expert of the Latin language.

He is a member of the Turin Bar.